Strategizing advice to get that new job - Today's THV

Author : ecxmlrpc

Date : March 28, 2012

As the unemployment rate is increasing day by day, and is presently at 8.3%, some are of the opinion that larger number of people are out at the hunt of jobs. Some fields like manufacturing, hospitality and health care had a rise in job growth. Rachel Idso, a branch manager of Robert Half International says that job seekers should narrow their search as there are plenty of jobs available nowadays.

Read the full article here:
Strategizing advice to get that new job - Today's THV