Help Wanted: Job Searching Grads Can Employ Website for Resume Tips

Author : ecxmlrpc

Date : April 19, 2012

College students starting to look for work need to have more than one version of their resume. As with covering letters, each resume should be tailored to fit the particular job you are applying for. At the Purdue Online Writing Lab, students can find much useful advice and tips on how to make their resumes more presentable and readable for potential employers. All aspects are covered including grammar, punctuation and such things as keywords to use when seeking employment.

Read the full article here:
Help Wanted: Job Searching Grads Can Employ Website for Resume Tips - ValpoLife.com