Spring Cleaning Your Resume, Practice Your Interview Skills

Author : ecxmlrpc

Date : May 4, 2012

This article provides advice for job seekers who need a little polishing in their search process. First, regarding the resume, make specific mention of what value you can bring to the organization, not merely what you want from them. When the time comes for the interview, know your facts. Research the company and be prepared to discuss what you have learned. Finally, this article will help you form a small, quick speech to help sell yourself to a future employer.

Read the full article here:
Spring clean your resume, practice interview skills - Lansing State Journal