Library - Holding Free Classes for Job Seekers

Author : ecxmlrpc

Date : July 19, 2012

Want to learn more about finding jobs and making money on the internet?Join the free class at Auburn University for online job seekers. The class will teach you about web research, emailing, resume building, applying for jobs and working with clients over the web. Registration is required. Lunch and refreshments are provided.

Read the full article here:
Library holding classes for job-seekers - Demopolis Times